“A question has been raised whether a State Government is competent to grant leave to a Central Government servant on deputation under them on the expiry of the period of his deputation. It is clarified that the leave applied for by such a Government Servant can be sanctioned by the State Government concerned, subject to the condition that his reversion to the Central Government will take effect from the date on which he rejoins duty under that Government.

In so far as persons serving in the Indian Audit and Accounts Department are concerned, these instructions have been issued after consultation with the Comptroller and Auditor General”.
